ANIMAL RAINDROP

From Escent-Oil, an NTCB approved organization: This publication takes the Raindrop Technique as developed by D. Gary Young to the next level. It doesn't matter if you are using essential oils on 4-legged beings or the 2-legged companions. Preview the manual at <http://www.escent-Oilbalance.com>. This educational manual may answer many of your questions on which oils to add to a Raindrop session and why.

VIBRATIONAL RAINDROP

The blueprint is now published for the Harmonics Raindrop certification. Please check out the program on our website: <http://ntcb.org/types/aromatherapy/raindrop-harmonics.html>

Pending program approval, NTCB will soon announce the blueprints for the CARE Vibrational Raindrop designations and the Escent-Oil Balance general Animal Raindrop certification in our next newsletter.

REMINDERS

You may now follow us on Twitter at @NTCB_Info or on the live feed on our home page – <http://ntcb.org>.

All Biofeedback Technicians (CBT) who received their Last Renewal Notice as of 7/1/11 may not renew unless the Specialist requirements have been completed. If you need more information about your status, please contact Jackie Olsen at info@ntcb.org.

All NTCB Members may not use their designation if your certification has expired. This is in violation of professional ethics and conduct. Certification recognizes a person who has attained specific educational and skill standards. It distinguishes the professional from the non-professional. Please contact NTCB to reinstate your certification at your earliest convenience.
